THE 1960
YELLOW JACKET
Choctaw High School
Choctaw, Oklahoma

We are happy to present the 1960 Yellow Jacket to the student body and faculty of Choctaw schools. We hope that it will bring back fond memories to you in future years.

Dedication

To Mr. J. L. Maynard, one who has long deserved the honor, we dedicate this Yearbook. It is but an humble effort to show our appreciation for his twenty-eight years of devoted work and leadership as vocational agriculture teacher.

The Yellow Jacket staff only wishes that there were something even greater we could do to express our heartfelt thanks to him for helping to make Choctaw School a better and more outstanding school.

The Yellow Jacket Staff

Message From Superintendent Cox

Although this year will be remembered for its vanguards and satellites as well as its editorials on what our schools are doing and what is wrong with them, I hope we never lose sight of our school's philosophy to help a student develop himself intellectually, spiritually, physically, and morally.

Knowledge is a wonderful thing if it doesn't surpass our wisdom. But with all our increased education we should consider thoughtfully how that knowledge will be used.

It is our philosophy that the basic purpose of education is to develop character. We try to create men and women who are good men and good women. And after we have made good men and good women then we create good men and women who are good engineers, good scientists, good doctors and lawyers and teachers, and, above all, good citizens.

This is the birth of the beginning of a new era. We cannot possibly understand it all because we are in the middle of it. It could very well be a new renaissance. As we go about our daily work we should be ever mindful of a teacher's prayer, "O Lord, help me this day to help one child to sense his divine selfhood and to have a new sense of his own worth and dignity."

Sincerely,

Geo. B. Cox

Dean Glasgow, sophomore, displays his FFA ribbons. He won more than 20 awards on livestock exhibits in county and state fairs.

Joyce Webber and Pat Bennett on the bus enroute to Stillwater to attend the state music festival at Oklahoma State University. They weren't feeling so well on the trip home as they did going over. You remember --carbon monoxide fumes from idling busses outside were accidentally drawn into the auditorium where the mass chorus was held. Many of the CHS chorus members along with hundreds of others from over the state were overcome. They returned home in the wee hours of the morning, leaving only a few students receiving medical attention.

Choctaw Wins

Choctaw had its best football season in the school's history this year. The team, under the capable hands of coaches Bill Jensen and Al Grinslade, worked hard and rounded out the season with an 8-2 win-loss record.

After losing their opener to Casady, the Yellow Jackets won six straight conference games before winding up their regular season with wins over St. Mary's and Tecumseh.

ACTIVITIES

We are indeed proud of our Student Council this year. The members and officers (pictured above) have been very active in their duties. They sponsored the Homecoming which included sending out 500 invitations to Alumni members. They collected canned goods and clothes for the needy and decorated the halls at Christmas. One of the first things the Student Council undertook was to make a Student Directory of all pupils from grades seven through twelve. The biggest job of the year was the sponsorship of the annual Jackets Jamboree.

This annual variety program sponsored by the Student Council started four years ago and has grown in popularity until it has had to be produced in the fieldhouse the past two years to accommodate the crowd. This year's performance surpassed all past performances both financially and entertainment wise. Door receipts amounted to $951.03 which will be used for some worthy project for the school that is voted on by the Student Council.

Students bow their heads for the Lord's Prayer.

Devotional Gives Inspiration as school day starts.

Classes always begin at Choctaw the same way. Each morning immediately after the last bell rings, a student's voice, coming from the public address system, says, "Will you stand for the pledge of allegiance." And then the voices of the whole student body can be heard repeating the flag salute. Then comes the voice asking you to remain standing for the Lord's Prayer, and again the students' voices are heard as they say the Lord's Prayer. Students take their seats and listen to the reading of the scripture for the day. After the announcements for the day are read, the PA cuts off, the teacher calls the roll and classes begin.

Students repeat pledge of allegiance.

The 1959-60 Echo Goes Streamlined

The support of the student body, the Student Council and the administration made possible the commercial printing of the Echo during 1959-60. With the addition of journalism to the school curriculum and the commercial printing of the paper, the Echo went streamlined and had a successful year in publishing news of Choctaw School in both pictures and type.

Sherrie Stiles did a great job as editor, inspiring the staff to hard work, and ever ready herself to write news stories and heads and to edit copy.

Editor Sherrie solicits a subscription from Pat McSpadden.

Sherrie Stiles, Sophomore, and Joe Sloan, Senior, are High School Good Citizens for the 1959-60 school year.

Good Citizenship Stressed at Choctaw High

Good citizenship is stressed at Choctaw Junior and Senior High. Each month the junior and senior high student body selects a boy and girl citizen for the month. From these nominees the good citizens of the year are chosen by the faculty.

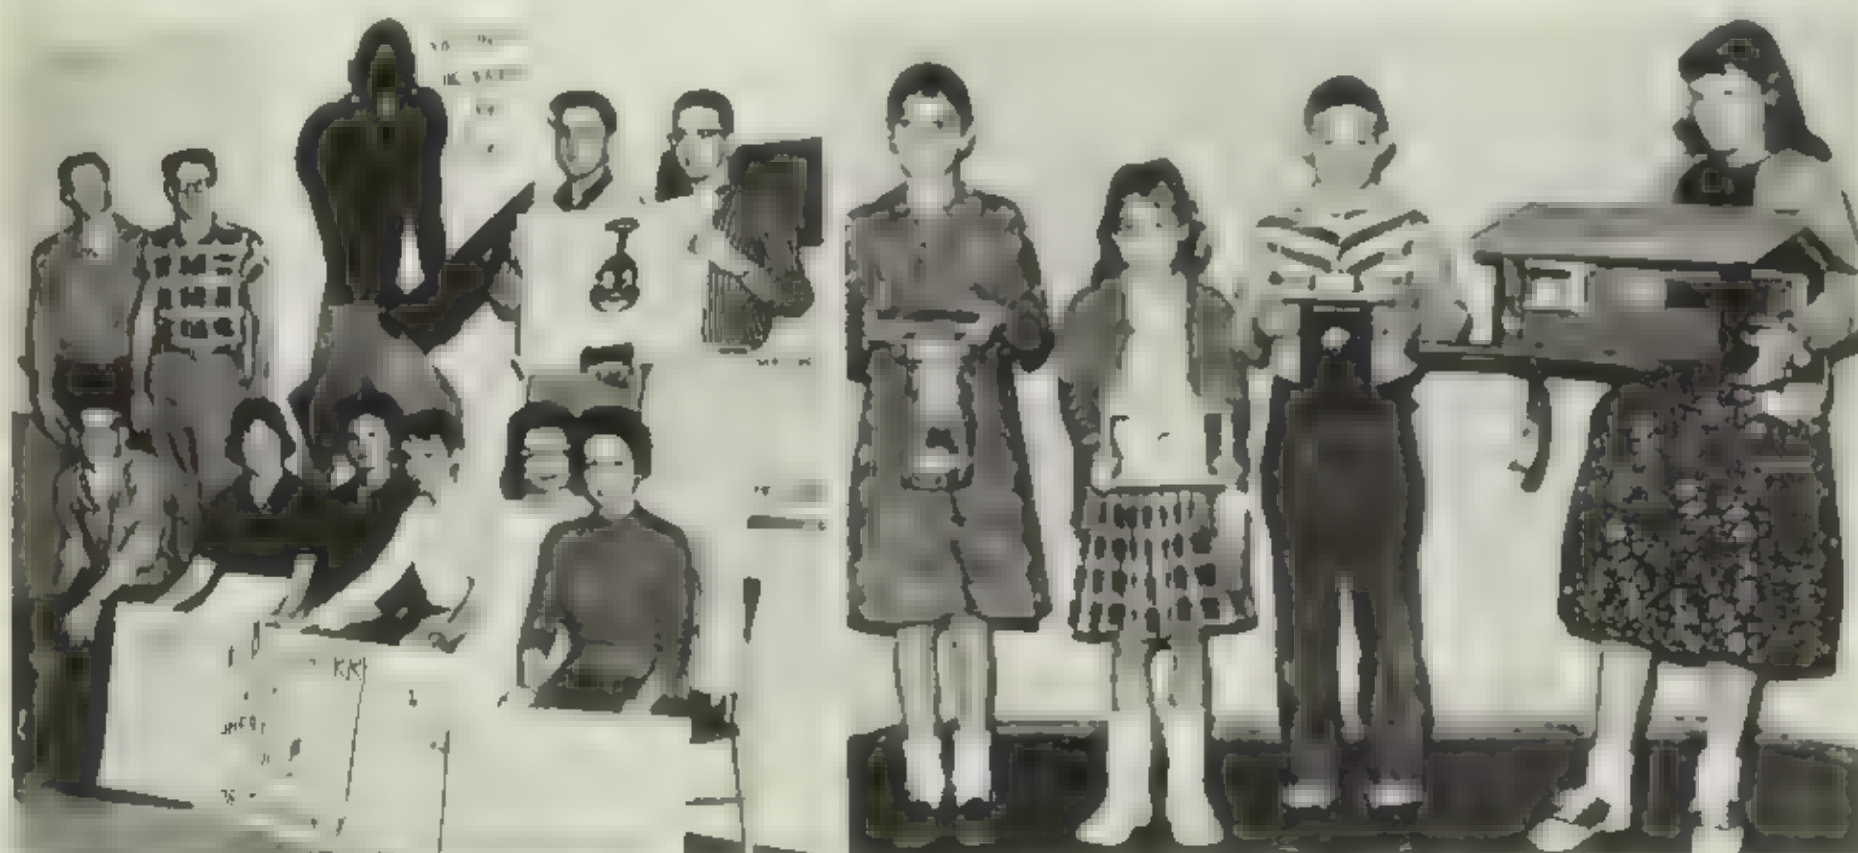

Chosen from the Junior Class of 1959 at Choctaw High School to attend Girls State and Boys State were Sue Adams and Bill Torkington.

High school good citizens for the 1958-59 school year were Judy Lemons and Joe Sloan.

Back Row: Gip Duggan, Gerald Finney, Eugene Vernon, James Hutchinson, Eddie Perrin. Front Row: Mrs. Walls, Mrs. Lawton, Mrs. Frizzel, Mrs. Fatkin, Mrs. Fitzgerald. If it weren't for them we'd go hungry at lunch time.

Top Row: Carol Elmore, B.A. Sloan, Larry Williamson, Loyd Alton. Bottom Row: Bill Young, Dorothy Stevens, Linda Fox, Sherrie Stiles, Janice Ream and Judy Tarkington, were candidates for Student Council offices.

Linda Taylor, Patricia Mailey, Tommy Barnett and Betty Spencer display their prize winning birdhouses, won in the County Audubon Society contest.

I guess you're a sweet girl and like grade work. Well of course! But, anyway we're real close at hand this year. You know, talking in Biology?
 I've enjoyed going to school with you this year and I'm looking forward to next year.
 Take of look in the future
 from you
